1. Conversation between parent and child regarding child's request to go to a friend's house.

Tim has been invited to hang out at Cole's house today, but they need to study for final exams which begin tomorrow.

Tim's mom disapprovingly said, "I really don't think it's a good idea to go to Cole's house today, Tim."

"Why not?" Tim complained. "You never let me do anything!"

"Sorry, Tim, but your grades are important. You need to study tonight, but you can invite Cole here tomorrow after exams."

Cole realized that his mother was right, and he went to his room to study. He ended up getting a great grade on his exam, proving again that moms know best!
